Fresh New Skin
3 Shades WhiterIn Three Days

The difference between a coarse, rough, ugly skin and a fine, soft, smooth skin is due to the difference in the size of the pores. Thousands have enlarged pores and do not know it. Every enlarged pore is due to irritation—can come blackheads and perhaps pimples. Any woman can now easily soften and beautify her skin, simply by the daily use of Crème Tokalon Skintone White Colour (non-greasy). This now contains predigested dairy cream and olive oil combined with whitening, tonic and astringent ingredients. It instantly penetrates, softens, irritates, tightens, enlarges pores, dissolves blackheads so that they fall away, whitens and softens darkest, sunken skin. Keeps the finest skin fresh and delicately moist but not greasy. Equally adapted to oily skin.

Crème Tokalon Skintone (white colour) gives indescribable new skin beauty and freshness in 3 days—such as can be obtained in no other way. It should be used every evening. If you use it wrinkled and aged-looking you should also use Crème Tokalon Skintone (rose colour) at night. It nourishes and rejuvenates your skin while you sleep.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

"I'm sorry, Miss Smith, but I couldn't help being late. The tram car wasn't on time."

That was on Monday.

Tuesday, "I'm sorry, Miss Smith but mother was sick and I had to go to the chemist's for medicine before I started for school."

Wednesday, some one overslept. Thursday the ice-box had to be fixed; Friday it was something else.

Miss Brand in a month's time had her regular "excuses" spotted.

"In every roomful of children," she told me, "there are a certain number who refuse to blame anything on themselves. No, they don't lie exactly, but usually they exaggerate. The big trouble, I find, is a moral cringing, a tendency to blame tardiness or a mishap on any one or anything else than themselves."

"I find this tendency growing," she added. "Either that or else it becomes more of a habit with older children. I used to teach in the grades and now I have high school students. I find these older children very quick with alibis."

Placing Blame.

"But isn't it natural?" I countered. "As they get older they are likely to have more responsibility at home. More things are likely to interfere with school work. Besides as life opens up they have more interests outside of school life."

"Yes, I know that," she acknowledged, "but there is something about it I don't like. When any thing happens to interfere with lessons or to make them late, they really think that almost anything else is to blame but themselves. If they do it in school they must be doing it at home. When they graduate into business they will blame the world if they don't succeed. It shows a 'weakening' I think. No matter what happens, they will shirk the responsibility onto something else."

I got her point. And as I look back on my own experience in the school room it is doubly proved. On those I have been able to check since, the ne'er-do-wells of to-day were mostly the chronic, "It wasn't my fault's" of old.

Teaching Responsibility.

I believe mothers of little children might be on guard about this matter. Probably they unwittingly begin it themselves. They not only excuse their children to other people, but if a baby touches a hot stove they are likely to say, "Bad stove, he hurt Harry." If he bites his tongue on a lolly-pop, they throw the candy over the fence with a malediction, "Nasty candy to hurt little Johnny that way." Perhaps they even stamp it under foot.

Little events of early childhood count for so much. Some children are blamed too much for things they cannot help. Others too little. But the sooner a child learns that he must bear the responsibility of his own action, or inaction, the better; I think, for his future.

We all have to learn that. "Misdeeds often return to their author."

Excuses are the most synthetic of palliatives.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

The new autumn clothes aren't kind to figures that are underweight or overweight.

You should take stock of yourself before you set out to buy that first autumn dress. It is as bad to be underweight as it is to be too plump. The new fall fashions reveal every curve and, by the same token, do nothing whatever to hide bony, angular spots.

Drinking creamy milk, eating each day three hearty meals consisting of plenty of fresh vegetables, butter, bread, meats and rich desserts are good plans for the woman who wants to gain. And he should try to get eight or nine hours sleep every night.

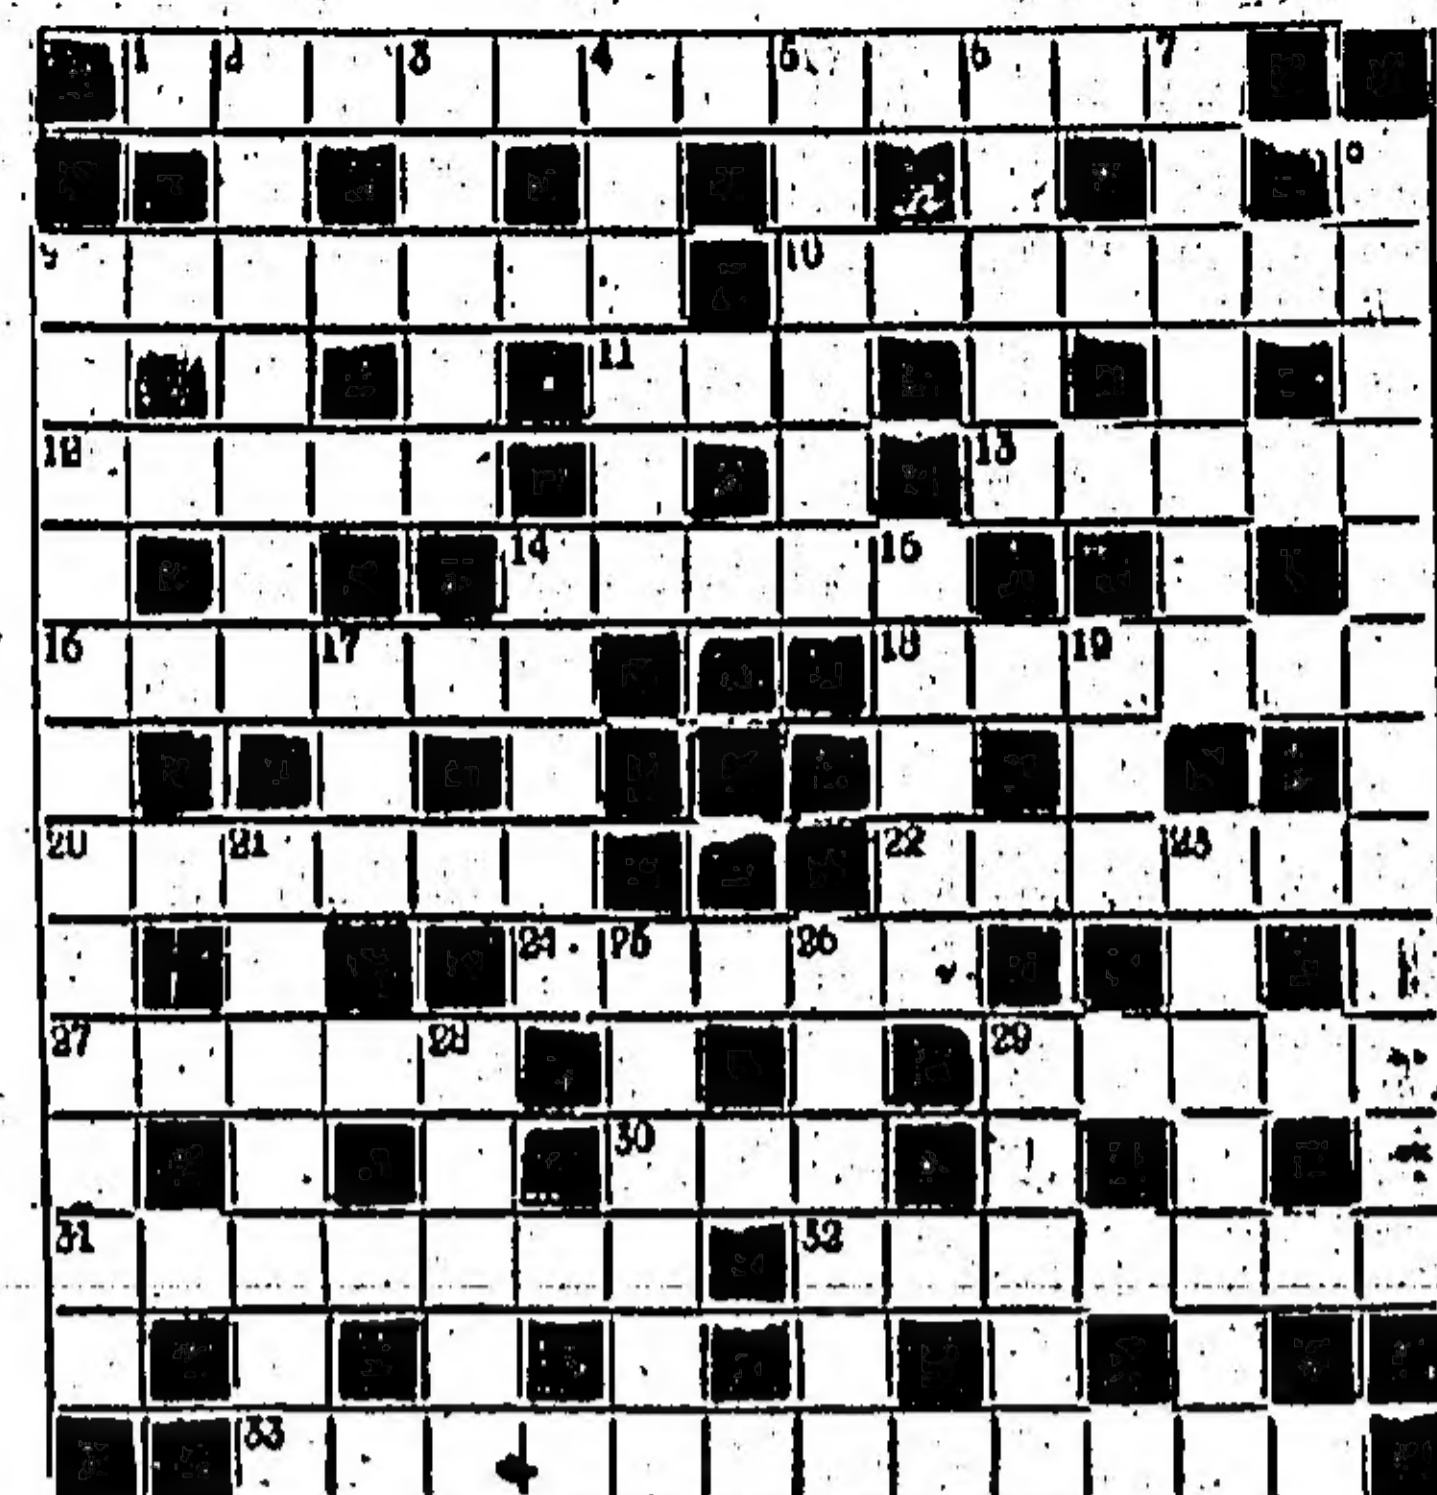

If your figure has too many prominent curves and you think that you should lose a little weight don't indulge in bread, butter, desserts and candy. Cut starches and sugar down to a minimum and remember to take plenty of exercise. Of course, everyone requires some starch and sugar in the daily diet but you can get the sugar from fresh fruits and the starch from cream sauces which are served with fish and meats.

Stick to leafy, green salads and liquids for lunch. And don't eat fried foods for dinner. Meats should be baked, broiled or boiled. Vegetables should be steamed and rolled instead of sautéed in butter.

Knitted Mode

Knitted suits are to be popular this autumn. Irene Bentley wears a particularly chic one in marine blue and white stripes with wide, white lapels that lend a flattering note.

Her jersey bodice, suede skirt and hat shoes are navy blue, matching the buttons on the coat.

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

CHAPTER XLVII

Eve occupied the time while Dick was at work in idle, pleasant ways. She would drive with him to the camp in the morning, return with the roadster and later drive back again for him at the close of the day. When she was alone she usually spent the time exploring the village or following inviting country roads.

Mrs. Williams accompanied her on a short drive occasionally but for the most part Eve went alone. She preferred to be alone because there was so much to think about. Lake City and Bixby's department store seemed far away and relatively unimportant in this new environment. Here in Pine Forest many things Eve had regarded as trivial took on a new significance—the wind whispering in the pine trees, arbutus nestling under rusty leaves on a hill sloping to the afternoon sun, quaint doorways leading into homely white cottages.

There was one cottage in particular that attracted Eve. Perhaps it was because the cottage was vacant and there was a "For Rent" sign in the window. Emboldened by this, Eve opened the gate one day and went inside to explore. Through the windows she caught fascinating glimpses of the interior of the house with fireplaces, a charming stairway and beautifully paneled doors. In her imagination she began to plan just how she would like to furnish the rooms. It would be a delightful place, she thought, to spend a year—or a lifetime. There was a garden in the rear with old-fashioned perennials pushing up through the dead growth of the year before. There was an ancient apple tree or two and a lilac bush.

Eve wondered if Dick, too, had been attracted by the cottage. She directed their steps past it one evening when they were out for a stroll but he made no comment. Indeed, he did not so much as glance toward the little house.

Well, if he no longer cared about a home there was no reason why Eve should care either. Perhaps he would have grown indifferent even if she had given up her work at Bixby's when they married. Now she at least had something to turn to if Dick failed her. She had been right, after all. A woman should build up a place in the world for herself. Then if her marriage does not come out satisfactorily she can go on alone.

Eve decided not to think of the white cottage any more, with the apple tree lifting a branch of pink and white blossoms to the gable window and the friendly lilac by the garden gate. She would try to forget that it might be a lot more fun to hang crisp, ruffled curtains at cottage windows than to write about those curtains in advertisements for Friday bargain sales.

But she could not return to Lake City without knowing something definite about her husband's plans for the future. Somehow she was determined she would find a way to make him talk about those plans in the few days that remained of her vacation.

However, even this important matter was crowded out of her thoughts temporarily by a brief, hastily-written letter from Ariene. "Mona is gone!" the letter said.

"We don't know exactly why, or where, but she has left us, bag and baggage. If I wanted to be mean and suspicious I'd think her hasty departure had something to do with the arrest of her racketeer boy friend a few days ago after a shooting affray."

"Last night's paper mentioned the fact that he had been seen several times lately with a blond girl companion and this morning Barnes received Mona's resignation, sweetly and regretfully worded, saying she had an offer of a job in Pittsburgh at a substantial advance in salary and was leaving at once to take it. She left her fountain pen and a few odds and ends of cosmetics in her desk so I called her boarding house to find out if she had left a forwarding address. She hadn't. Just told her landlady she'd send it when she was located. Of course she won't. She's probably scared silly, and it serves her right for going about with crooks. Hateful as she's been to you and me, I don't wish the little fool any harm but I'm honestly glad that you'll have her off your hands when you take charge of the office."

Eve, too, was glad to have that difficulty removed from her path. Everything, she mused, was clearing the way for her new position at Bixby's. Mona's departure, Dick's indifference—everything!

That evening she and Dick once more passed the cottage with the "For Rent" card in the window.

"Dick," Eve began, pausing at the gate which stood half open, "don't you ever get tired of going from place to place?—When you come to a lovely village like Pine Forest don't you wish you could stay there the rest of your life instead of just for a year or so? Don't you ever think of a permanent home—a home of your own?"

Dick pushed the gate aside and together they went up the flower-bordered brick walk and sat down on the porch steps.

"As I've told you," he said, "no job is permanent. But a permanent home—yes, of course I've thought of that—worked for years with it in mind."

Dick took out his pipe and lighted it. "Eve, there's something I didn't intend to tell you about until it became a sure thing and there'd be no chance for disappointment. Those Tuesday evenings when I left you alone and didn't explain where I'd been, you resented them, didn't you?"

"Well, it's like this," he went on. "Years before I met you I heard of an inventor who had a patent on the greatest little engine in the world. His friends had backed him with their money and his friends' friends did, likewise. I put up all I could spare at the time. Each week he held a meeting to report the progress of the enterprise. Our faith in the man and his engine grew and as time went on we put in more and more money. It would probably be hard for you to realize the enormous amount of money it takes to bring an invention like this from the dream stage into actual operation, the red tape involved, the disappointments and setbacks."

Dick blew a filmy wreath of smoke and then continued:

"But when a man is honest and you back him with your last dollar you can't feel too badly if all is lost. You feel sure that he did all he could, anyway. That's how I felt about this. But I didn't want to build up your hopes in case the thing should fail."

"Down there in the shadows of an old machine shop near the lake front in the factory district of Lake City week by week we watched the enterprise. And now, Eve, I believe nothing can stop it. It may take a couple of years more but when we take the lid off that business the world will sit up and take notice."

"When that time comes, Eve, I won't have to move on from place to place, wherever I'm sent. I won't have to work at all if I'd rather not."

"That—that will be fine for you, Dick," Eve said, trying to put into her voice the enthusiasm and gladness he seemed to expect. But she did not feel glad. Now she had no choice except to return to her work at Bixby's. If she told Dick now that she was willing to make a home for him wherever his work took him he would think it was not because of love for him but because his financial success was assured.

Yesterday she could have told him, but not to-day—not ever!

ASSAULT CHARGE.

TWO CHINESE CONVICTED AT KOWLOON

Before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon, Chiu Ming was fined $15, in default 21 days imprisonment, and Wong Cheung was fined $25, in default 30 days, for assaulting Tso Kang Ching on September 21 at the Shanghai Tea House. Complainant and defendants are Shanghai men. In addition, defendants were ordered to pay $15 compensation to the complainant.

Inspector E. Bloor appeared for the prosecution, there being no solicitor for the defence.

The complainant, Tso Kang Ching, said that he was chief cook at the Sam Yung Knitting Factory and the second defendant, was his loki whom he had engaged last month, having paid him $17.30 as wages. On the afternoon of September 21, second defendant asked complainant for $2 in advance which complainant refused. The second defendant was annoyed and refused to cook the evening meal. Later that evening, complainant met his loki at the Shanghai Tea House and told him he required a month's notice before defendant could leave his employ. At this, the second defendant seized a stool and hit complainant on the leg. Complainant blew his police whistle and soon afterwards two Indian police constables arrived. Second defendant's brother, the first defendant, also assisted in the assault. Another man, who had helped the defendants, escaped arrest.

The first defendant declared that complainant had fallen down the stairs during the fight and had twisted his ankle.

Au Luk, complainant's mother-in-law, had accompanied complainant to the tea house that evening, and said she had witnessed the assault. The two defendants had struck her son-in-law in the leg, fracturing the bone.

Constable's Evidence.

Ahmad Khan, Indian police constable, accompanied by another Indian, when passing the Shanghai Tea House at 9.5 p.m. had heard a police whistle. Giving evidence, he said two constables entered and saw first and second defendant hitting complainant with the stool. Complainant fell under their blows. The owner of the tea house, Tsan Kam Si, appeared as a witness for the defence saying that shortly after 8 p.m. on the night of September 21, second defendant had entered his shop. Later complainant had arrived and on refusing to give defendant $2 had slapped him on the face. Second defendant pushed complainant who fell down the stairs.

A waitress at the tea house also gave evidence, declaring that the complainant had walked out into the street before the constables arrived.

Mr. Wynne-Jones: Why are you telling me all these lies?—I am not telling lies.

The complainant was upstairs when the police arrived, was he not?—No.

Inspector Bloor: This witness came to the police-station some days ago saying she had been threatened to give this evidence.

Mr. Wynne-Jones: Yes, I can see that. The owner of the tea house has also been threatened I think. I convict both the defendants.

DONCASTER SALES UP BY £32,000

BIG PRICE FOR A FAIRWAY COLT

London, Sept. 22. Doncaster yearling sales ended yesterday, when the total figure was 44,608 guineas. For the whole of the sales the total rose from 150,986 guineas last year to 188,208 guineas.

The first big price yesterday was 3,700 guineas paid by Capt. Percy Whitaker for a Feistend-Coliba colt, and the highest price was for a Fairway colt out of Harpsichord, dam of Royal Minstrel, which went to 6,400 guineas before it fell to the bid of the Aga Khan.

Mr. Shand, the greyhound owner, bought a Beresford-Black Gem colt for 1,650 guineas, a filly by Beresford-Portea for 3,000 guineas, and a colt by Trigo-Splinter Bar for 1,000 guineas.

There was keen competition for a Sansovino colt from Surbina, which went to Lord Glanely for 5,300 guineas, and a Bosworth filly out of Mallowinas went for 1,650 guineas before falling to Sir Laurence Phillips.

Other four-figure purchases were:

Colt by Beresford-Sunrise, M. Peneock, 1,000 guineas.

Colt by Beresford-Royal Phillipa, Mr. Marsh, 1,350.

Filly by Tetralenna-White Folly, Hon. George Lambton, 1,450.

Injured Girl's Tennis Win

WEEK'S PLAY IN BANDAGES

A girl who had played for a week with an injured back, and went on the court with the part affected plastered and bandaged, achieved a triple triumph in the British junior lawn tennis championships at Wimbledon.

She was Miss Nancy Dickin, and she beat Miss Mary Whitmarsh in the final of the girls' singles by 6-4, 8-5, while afterwards she went on to win the girls' doubles in partnership with Miss Whitmarsh, and the mixed doubles with N. E. Hooper.

Miss Dickin injured her back on the first day of the championships, and for the remainder of the tournament she had to see a specialist every day to have her spine attended to. It was found that she had displaced a small bone, and the same trouble recurred in every strenuous match.

But Miss Dickin played with great pluck and with the composure of a veteran, against Miss Whitmarsh—a formidable rival, as she has played in this tournament four times.

Miss Whitmarsh and Miss Dickin are great friends. They were educated at the same school in Hertfordshire, where Miss Kathleen Stammers was also a pupil. They are both 17, and therefore have plenty of time to develop their game, for which undoubtedly they have talent.

NANKING SPORTS.

National Records Established.

GENERAL WEEPS.

Nanking, Oct. 12. General Li Tao, ex-commander of Manchuria Volunteer Troops, was present at the National Sports Meeting this afternoon. He spoke with the competitors bearing the colours of North-east China, and was so emotionally overcome that he burst into tears. The ex-commander left after staying for an hour, and will proceed to Shanghai tomorrow.

At about 4 p.m. Mr. Lin Sen, president of the National Government, arrived to see the sports. Upon his arrival, the bands in attendance burst forth in salute, while the officials, competitors and the huge crowd of spectators all stood up to give him a hearty welcome. Mr. Lin smiled his appreciation, and quietly took his seat. He remained till 6 p.m.

Messrs. Sun Fo, Chu Chai-hua, Shih Ying, Tseng Chung-ming, Chow Chikong, Tang Yu-yen and Madame Tang were also among the spectators today, the third day of the meeting.

Mr. Wang Chi-ki, president of the meeting, arrived shortly after 1 p.m., and was very pleased to see so many records established. He went round the grounds in an aeroplane, and in the company of Mr. C. T. Wang, went to see the prizes.

Many national records were shattered in the course of the day. The fencing tourney was also in full swing.

The Results.

Basketball Section: Shanghai gained a decisive victory over Nanking, 53-31, while Fukien beat Shansi by 29 points, 49-20.

Tennis Section: In the men's singles, the Batavian team easily defeated Hupeh. In the doubles, the Batavians, however, failed to field a team. An exhibition match was therefore staged in which Gordon Lum (representing Szechuan) and Guy Cheng (Shanghai) beat Liang Teh-kwong (Shanghai) and Lin Lin (Batavia) to the tune of 6-2 and 6-1.

Volleyball Section: Kwangtung defeated Kiangsi, 3-0, and Nanking beat Hunan, 3-1.

Soccer Section: Hupeh defeated Szechuan, 2-2, and Peking scored an easy victory at the expense of Suiyuen, 8-0.

In putting the weight, Miss Ma Chi of Shanghai won the first prize, setting up a new record.

In the 80 metres hurdles for ladies (heat), Miss Wu Su-wen of Szechuan, Miss U Sau-lay of Shanghai, and Miss Chien Han-ai of Shanghai clocked good times, all lowering the national record.

In throwing the javelin, Pang Wing-hing of Peking, 48.02 metres and Chiu Kai-ming of Hupeh, 47.88 metres, established new records.

Sze-lo Kwang broke the national record in the long jump.

In the second heat of the 200 metre flat race, Liu Chang-chun of Luning clocked 22 seconds for the event, setting up a record.

Tao Ying-kit of Shanghai broke all previous records by doing the distance in 59 seconds, in the 400 metres hurdles for men.—Wah Kie Yat Po.

TEACHING TENNIS

SUZANNE'S NEW METHODS

FIRST RUN, SKIP AND JUMP

Miss Suzanne Lenglen, the best woman lawn tennis player the world has ever seen, is going to revolutionise coaching in that game.

The famous Frenchwoman gave a demonstration in London before a large crowd, which consisted of her future pupils, parents, and some well-known lawn tennis players.

First a girl pupil took the floor and Miss Lenglen made her hit the ball against the practice board. She watched her for a few moments, and then told the pupil her faults by means of a loud-speaker, thus enabling the whole crowd to hear her criticisms and instructions.

But the revolutionary part of Miss Lenglen's teaching consists in the order in which she intends to give her lessons to novices.

PERFECT RHYTHM NEEDED.

"I would first of all teach them how to walk," she said, "then run, skip, and jump. That makes for good footwork and fitness. Next I would teach them speed, and by speed I mean quickness of the mind, so as to translate thought into immediate action."

"After that I would give them each a racket suited to their individual needs, but most of all teach them a grip of that racket that is natural and comfortable."

"It is no use trying to teach a pupil your own particular grip or style. Tilden and Cochet are quite different in style, grip, and methods, and yet they are both champions. I believe in changing the grip of the racket for the backhand and forehand."

"After teaching them all this I would see that every stroke had perfect rhythm. It is no good being jerky."

"Then the last thing to learn is tactics, in which my experience enables me to help them more than most people."

SHORTS NOT ELEGANT.

Miss Lenglen, who was wearing a suit with a loose skirt that buttoned up the front and the back, said she thought it was much easier for women to play in shorts than skirts.

"They are cooler and freer but they do not look elegant," she said. Then in a reflective mood she remarked:

"I think it will be only a matter of time before every woman will wear shorts, and the briefer they are the better."

Miss Lenglen has been engaged to give lessons in England for 120 days in the next 12 months.

MULE CORPS WIN AGAIN

Mamak' Hockey Points From R.E.

Playing in the Mamak' hockey tournament yesterday afternoon on the United Services Recreation Club ground, the Hongkong Indian Mule Corps registered another victory when they defeated the Royal Engineers by one goal to nil.

The goal was scored before the interval by Sub-Conductor Deake. The Mule Corps played well in the first half, but appeared to slack off in the second session, during which period the Engineers pressed hard. The Mule Corps goal keeper, Jagah Ali, effected some fine clearances during this half, and prevented the R.E. from drawing level.

The Mamak' League match between the Central British Association and the K.I.T.C., to have been played to-morrow afternoon has been cancelled.

The Kowloon Indians have several players on the injured list and cannot turn out a team.

SCHOOL FOOTBALL.

St. Joseph's College Beats C.B.S.

Playing at King's Park yesterday afternoon, St. Joseph's College beat the Central British School by four goals to nil.

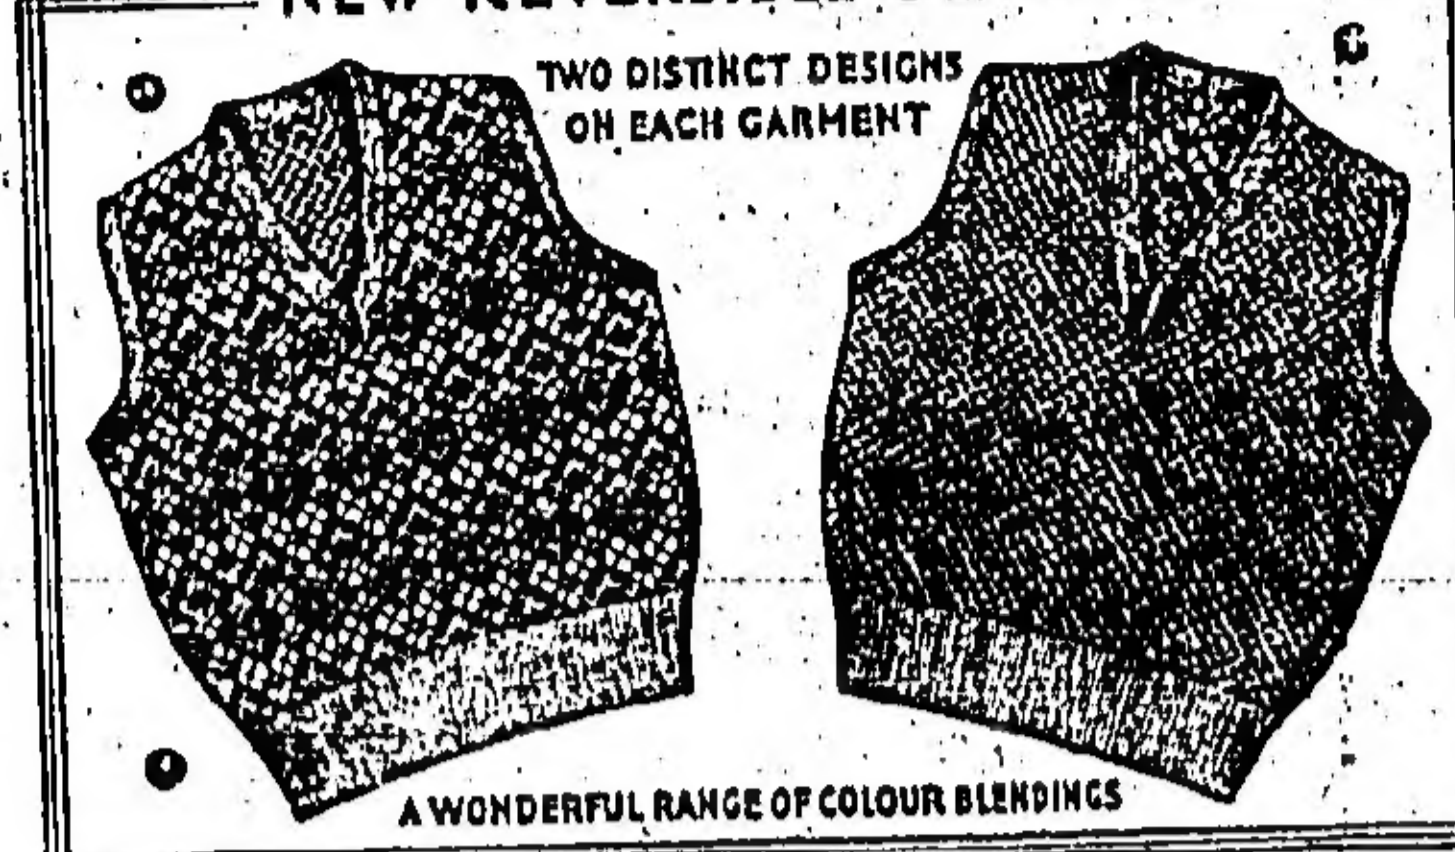

Hassan scored twice for the winners while Simon Chau and Chung Wah-chenk each netted once. Blake, the Kowloon league player, was the star performer for the losers but he received little support.

LOWER TAXES FOR AUSTRALIA

Increasing Exports and Better Prices

CAMPAIGN FOR CUTS IN TARIFF

Melbourne, Sept. 22.
Large reductions of taxation are promised.

Exports are increasing, and wool prices rising. Employment has improved and the Budget is balanced. Remission of taxation will set the seal on the general improvement in conditions, and will restore any damage done to the Government by Press criticisms.

During the recess the Government have been worried by periodic attacks and misrepresentation by Country Party members and Tariff Reform organisations, who, while demanding wholesale reductions in the duties on secondary industries without awaiting the Tariff Board reports, insist on maintaining the prohibitive duties upon primary industries instituted during the Bruce-Page regime.

The Government insist on strict adherence to the Ottawa agreement and the election undertaking requiring the Tariff Board to report before any duty variations are made.

The easy defeat of the Country
Party candidate in the 'Polwarth (Victoria)' by-election indicates that the Country Party propaganda has not succeeded.

When Parliament meets the Government's decisions on the Tariff Board recommendations on the exchange will be announced.

ed Assistant Minister assisting the Treasurer, replacing the Assistant Treasurer, Sir Walter Massey
Greene, who retires from the Cabinet after the presentation of the Budget.

Mr. Churchill Pays for a Funeral

MAN SAVED FROM PAUPER'S GRAVE

London, Sept. 22.

Mr. Winston Churchill saved a poor rural worker from a pauper's grave yesterday, by paying the funeral expenses.

Jack Smith, aged 74, died in Farnborough Infirmary on Monday.
He had lived a nomadic life as an odd job man, and for the past ten years he and his wife had made their home in a tent and shack on the common which stretches away opposite Chartwell Manor, Westerham, Kent, Mr.
Churchill's residence.

He was taken ill two months ago, and was removed to Farn-borough.

Mr. Churchill had taken a kindly interest in the man, and, on hearing of his death, made himself responsible for all the expenses of the funeral, which took place at Crockham Hill Church, Westerham.

MR. CHURCHILL'S WREATH.

Among the floral tributes was a beautiful wreath from Mr. Churchill.

Standing in the entrance to her cave home, the widow spoke of Mr. Churchill's generous action.
With tears in her eyes she voiced her gratitude.

"It was a beautiful funeral," she said, "and the coffin, with its lovely fittings, might have been for a gentleman. While my husband had been ill Mr. Churchill sent me money, and told me that when it had gone I was to let him know.

"Mr. Churchill had told us that if we were compelled to leave the common he would try to find us a place on his own land where we could camp."

IS THINKING A LOST ART?

PACE OF LIFE BLAMED

Thinking is becoming a lost art, so Mr. S. Hamilton Price told delegates at the Conference of the Incorporated Secretaries' Association at Cambridge.

He said that, probably because of the fact that the pace of life was greater than it used to be, people in these days were inclined to superficial thinking. They preferred to make a quick decision instead of getting down to fundamentals.

Other week-end conferences produced a variety of criticism. For instance:

B.B.C. "DIALECT".

Mr. J. H. Nicholson, of Bristol University, asked complainingly at a conference of the Adult Education Institute at Cambridge: "Why should nearly all those chosen to speak on the wireless speak with a dialect? They do not realise it is dialect but it is. Why not let us hear the voice of a Northerner on the wireless occasionally?"

"There is an insidious conspiracy to foist what is in effect a dialect on the whole of England, as standard English. It may be English, but it is not English as spoken by his Majesty on the wireless."

HER NEW JOB.

Miss J. Clissold was asked at the conference of the Women's Engineering Society at Chelsea to state the future possibilities of her job.

"I am bound to confess," she said, "that whatever these may be, I am not going to take advantage of them, because I shall be leaving before long to get married. The only excuse I can offer you is that I am marrying an engineer" (laughter).

THE PERFECT SECRETARY.

Mr. Sidney F. Wicks, of Manchester, told the Incorporated Secretaries' Association at Cambridge, "There are many who answer to the name of secretary today. There are attractive young ladies who are really typists in disguise, the product of favouritism, and called secretaries because it flatters both their employers and their own social status."

"There are also the genuine private secretaries, A and B. 'A' is the secretary of the politician whose duty it is first of all to interpret in terms of courtesy the apoplectic command, 'Tell him to go to hell'; and second, to supply his employer with brilliant epigrams and intelligible speeches. 'B' is the secretary who is, to a business man who is also a public man, his living memory and tidier-up and prompter behind the scenes; an invaluable person quite genuinely a secretary."

THAT HOSPITAL INCIDENT

The explanation given by Dr. Thomas concerning G. C. H. methods of dealing with accident cases will afford relief to many minds. There will be no hesitation in acquitting responsible officials of knowingly permitting a scandalous insistence upon formalities such as would cause a seriously injured man to be refused admission to hospital because the nature of the accident had not been reported to the police. The idea that such an incident could occur by order, so to speak, was too monstrous for belief from the beginning. And yet, on the evidence given at the inquest, no reasonably minded man could doubt that the driver and others connected with the fatal accident left the Queen's Road entrance of the hospital in the belief that the victim had been refused admission for the reason stated. There was not the slightest reason for the connection of such a story; it was told frankly and honestly, and probably without any thought of the flutter likely to be caused in hospital circles. As well it might. The allegation is a serious one and although the inquest has terminated and the hospital has been given a clean sheet, it is to be hoped that the matter will not be allowed to end there. The Coroner ventured the belief that the accusation came as a surprise to everyone, but he was not entirely correct. Although it is inconceivable that a doctor could acquiesce in an event of the nature complained of in this particular instance, we are afraid knowledge and experience gives reason to doubt whether Government hospital methods are entirely above criticism. We have heard too many well authenticated cases where patients have been admitted and have been kept waiting for treatment much longer than could be considered necessary. And with due consideration for the seriousness of the statement, the impression given has been that the delay and the Chinese nationality of the patient have not been entirely unconnected. Strictly this may have nothing to do with G. C. H. incident revealed last week, but the two things together do not leave entirely happy reflections. Indeed, they raise issues warranting attention. And it would be essential to include the police

NOTES OF THE DAY

GENEALOGICAL TREES

Although many people missed the special significance, a photograph we published the other day emphasises, as few news items do, the incredible age of the civilization of China. It recorded the fact that a lady in Peking can trace her ancestry directly back in male line of descent to Confucius himself—and that she is his 77th lineal descendant. Since Confucius was born in 551 B. C., the family is now only a little less than 2,500 years old; and in the face of such a record—not altogether uncommon—the most pretentious of western genealogies must look utterly insignificant. To a person who can trace his family tree that far back, in "pride in 'coming over with the Conqueror'" must look rather odd. Even the proudest members of European nobility, who claim direct descent from crusaders and what-not, must be, in the eyes of a cultured Chinese, mere upstarts.

THE GRAF SAILS ON

The announcement that the German dirigible, Graf Zeppelin, will appear at the Chicago Century of Progress Exhibition on Oct. 25 is a further reminder that the Germans seem perfectly at home with these lighter-than-air liners, no matter what difficulties other nations may have with them. This remarkable airship has, by now, a record of achievement so long that few can recite it without a reference book. It has flown around the world, it has crossed various oceans so many times that people have lost count, it has acted as a commercial carrier, and it has never had a really serious accident. Now it is going to re-visit the United States and no one has the slightest doubt that it will make its trip right on schedule. All in all, the career of the Graf Zeppelin is a striking example of the things that can be done with a dirigible by people who know the secret.

angle in the study. It would not be surprising to find that the police attitude had more than a little to do with the G. C. H. incident, whether the person responsible was mistaken in his understanding of their requirements or not. More than once have injured men, in fighting or stabbing or in accidents, been first taken to the police station and there questioned and cross-examined concerning the cause of the fight or the identity of the assailant or regarding details of the accident, before a thought has been given to treatment of injuries. As often as not, of course, the time occupied is merely that which is passing while an ambulance is arriving and if the victim is not in too bad a way the questioning is perhaps permissible. Nevertheless, the matter seems to require an instruction regarding procedure, particularly to the Asiatic ranks of the force, who are quite capable of taking a badly injured man from, say, the Central Theatre area to No. 7 Station, passing the G. C. H. on the way. Isolated cases could be dismissed as attributable to the crass idiosyncrasy of an individual; but such things as this occur week after week. The only conclusion to be drawn is that the men believe they are fulfilling their duty and that they need to be instructed definitely to the contrary. At the moment, sense of proportion is entirely lacking. It is clearly of first importance that casualties should receive appropriate treatment. If their case is the concern also of the police that can very well come later. Here, we suspect, lies the crux of the whole unfortunate episode at the G. C. H. Somebody blundered, but we credit Mr. Somebody with believing he was doing the right thing. It can be made clear all round that it was the wrong thing without too much fuss.

SCIENCE IN WONDERLAND

By E. L. ALLEN

MANY of us were brought up on 'Alice in Wonderland'. But we thought that to grow up meant to say good-bye for ever to that delightful world and its quaint inhabitants. Never again should we meet the Mad Hatter or the Queen of Hearts or sit down at one of those interminable tea-parties!

Of late, however, some of us have begun to think that winds are blowing us towards the coast of Wonderland once more, or rather that we are being definitely conducted there by such eminently respectable guides as our men of science, some of them even enjoying the additional prestige of knighthood!

But it is even worse than that. The world-picture which they put into our hands looks, when viewed one way up, as precise and as regular as any table of logarithms, but when turned round, it looks sometimes rather like what Alice saw through the looking-glass! How absolutely fascinating, for example, to watch an electron jump from one orbit to another without crossing the intervening space! Indeed, anything may happen in a world where, when the business man goes out to the office in the morning, he not only takes a little loose cash in his pocket, but a private space and time, as well!

EXHILARATED SCIENTISTS.

When one talks with anyone who has had something to do with the advances in modern physics, one cannot but notice a certain exhilaration about him. He has the air of a man for whom something very splendid is afoot. A working-man who was on strike was all once asked what the strike was all about. "I don't know," he replied, "but I can tell you we're not going to till we get it!" The scientist is by no means certain what he will find, but he has made up his mind to go on till he has found it. He carries in his pocket a detailed map of what lies behind him, but the country which lies ahead is quite unsurveyed. What turns up may be very disconcerting, but what of that? It will be true or, at any rate, it will be more true than what he knows at present.

Sometimes the scientist is stopped by eager people and asked whether he cannot solve the problems which are troubling them. Can he not, for example, produce out of his latest theories an argument for the existence of God or for human immortality? Or someone of a more practical turn of mind wants to know if he cannot turn the key in the lock of the atom and give man, already embarrassed by productive power beyond what he can handle, the chance to get still more? But the harnessing of the atom remains a dream, and there is no more divinity about a universe made up of tiny packets of energy than there was about one made up of miniature billiard balls.

THE MESSAGE OF HOPE.

For the message of hope which science brings—and it does bring such a message—we must look elsewhere. In Russia, where they have an explanation for everything, they have one for that entente between science and religion which the twentieth century has effected. They say it is the shadow cast by the despair of capitalist civilization. The Western mind, unable to grapple with its fate and seeing disaster ahead, drugs itself with a new mysticism and religion! Einstein had scarcely propounded his theory of relativity when Lenin bade his comrades beware of it as the latest and most subtle method of promoting the class-interests of the bourgeoisie!

I do not see much trace of this defeatism in the scientific mentality of to-day. Indeed, it might be possible to see in it, the cure for such defeatism as is abroad. Long ago, a creature six feet high and with so uncertain a hold on life that a germ which only the most powerful microscopes could detect has but to enter his system and he is dead, set out on an adventure through the universe. He was armed with a clock and a measuring-rod, and he set to work observing, experimenting, guessing, and putting his guesses to the test. What rule has he followed to achieve the great success he has achieved? The simple rule that the truth is all that matters, and that one new fact is worth all the prejudices in the world.

THE PROBLEM OF MAN.

In the realm of politics and economics, of course, such success as the physicist has won is still a long way off. Why is that? In part, it is because man is much less tractable than matter. You can predict what molecules will do, if only there are enough of them together, but man is as much a problem when you take him in the mass as he is singly. Perhaps there is another reason. We might have more success if we followed the scientist's rule. We are so concerned to defend our possessions, our interests, our sovereignties, our markets, and prestige, our standards of life, and a whole host of things good and bad we call ours. The scientist does not approach a problem to see how he can best defend what he already has, but to find that new thing which will be so much better than the old. Perhaps that is why he is a free citizen of the future, while we remain slaves of the past.

Truth has a habit of speaking in a still, small voice. Sometimes we protest and tell her to shout, because we cannot hear. If she were not the perfect lady that she is, she would answer, "You could hear me well enough, if you did not make that noise, grinding your private axes!"

"You see, we have rather neglected Sidney's education, thinking all along that he was going to inherit money."

K.R.A. MEETING GOVERNMENT AND REFUSE

BUS COMMITTEE FORMED

A Meeting of the General Committee of the Kowloon Residents' Association took place on Thursday evening in St. Andrew's Church Hall, Kowloon.

There were present Mr. C. E. Terry, (President), Mr. L. D. Almada e Castro (Vice-President), Mr. R. P. Phillips (Hon. Treasurer), Rev. W. Walton Rogers, Messrs. F. C. Mow Fung, F. H. Crapnell, H. F. Bunje-C. M. Manners, Li Chor Chi, B. W. Tape, C. M. Hall, H. F. Un, R. Pestonji, D. W. Munton, T. B. Wilson, B. Wylie and Lt. Col. E. D. Matthews. The Hon. Secretary, Mr. J. H. Shaw, and Mr. E. Cock sent apologies for their absence.

Members of Committee learned with satisfaction that the Government Draft Estimates for 1934 contained provision for the erection of a Typhoon Signal in the Kowloon City District, and an enlarged Post Office in Kowloon. It was decided to enquire from Government on what site it was proposed to erect the signal.

DISPOSAL OF RUBBISH.

A lengthy reply from Government on the subject of the disposal of rubbish was read. It was stated that as incinerators would be too costly, refuse would still have to be dumped. The Estimates for 1934 made provision for commencing work on a dumping ground at Kun Tong. The reply further stated that a new system of dumping from Sanitary Department barges had been instituted which it was hoped would prevent the washing up of refuse on beaches on the Western side of the Peninsula.

A comprehensive report from the appropriate sub-committee appointed to enquire into conditions at the Kwong Wah Hospital was read and adopted. It was agreed to send same to the Directors of the Hospital and to send a copy to the Secretary for Chinese Affairs.

PUBLIC DISPENSARY.

The Members of Committee learned with regret from Government that funds would not be available for the provision of a Public Dispensary in Tsim Sha Teui. The matter was left in abeyance pending information as to the source of funds concerning the existing Public Dispensaries. Further complaints having been received regarding the unsatisfactory bus service in Kowloon, and previous communications with the Bus Company and Police Department having been reviewed, it was decided to form a special sub-committee consisting of Lt. Col. E. D. Matthews, Mr. Li Chor Chi and Mr. D. W. Munton to collate complaints and to endeavour to secure action in the matter of improving the service.

The final of the Army Other Ranker Singles Tennis Competition will take place at Soekunpo on Tuesday next, between Sgt. C. Halford (S.W.S.) and Pte. J. Ronan (S.W.E.). The match will commence at 4 p.m. and afterwards the prizes will be presented.

GERMANY DEMANDING THE RIGHT TO RE-ARM

the development of aviation the sea is no longer a high wall from which we could observe with an impartial look the disorders on the Continent.

As to the form under which this interest in European affairs should be displayed, it is pointed out by the press that the only possible basis for it is the respect of the treaties. "When we honoured the treaty which guaranteed the neutrality of Belgium, there certainly was nobody more to recall how we signed it. This should suffice to those who doubt our loyalty to the Locarno Treaty."

On the other hand, foreshadowing the failure of the Disarmament Conference, British papers recommend the conclusion of bilateral agreements.—Havas.

* FRENCH POLICY RESTATED.

France's disarmament policy was restated by M. Daladier, when speaking at the banquet concluding the Radical Socialist Congress at Vichy.

"We do not want to menace or humiliate any people under any regime," M. Daladier declared. "But we are resolved to admit no further reductions of our forces except by a joint, sincere and loyal accord, and organised, progressive disarmament, the effectiveness of which will be guaranteed."

M. Daladier claimed that Great Britain, the United States, Italy, Russia and many other countries have agreed to a four-year period for the organisation of armaments control.

RHINE SIGNS.

"What responsible statesman would at present favour a policy of isolation for his country or a policy antagonistic to alliances?" the French Premier demanded.

"German spokesmen express a desire for peace," M. Daladier continued. "But why do we see on the other side of the Rhine repeated warlike manifestations?"

Indicating France's refusal to grant Germany sample offensive weapons, M. Daladier asked "Why should Germany demand the right to construct, to-day, costly war material which would be destroyed to-morrow if a convention were signed?"

LOCAL ESTATES FOREIGN PROPERTY IN HONGKONG

David Mitty Evans, marine engineer of the s.s. Harvard, died intestate at the Government Civil Hospital on May 27 leaving $700. At the request of deceased's father who resides in Cardiganshire, Wales, Mr. T. M. Hazell, Official Administrator, applied for letters of administration which were granted.

Local estate valued at $10,500 was left by Charles Gilbert Davies, late of Shanghai, who died on January 22. Leave to re-sell probate of the will was granted Mr. D. J. Lewis on behalf of the widow who lives at Brighton, England.

GERMANY'S CLAIM.

An article published by the official Wolff Agency concerning German claims on armaments reveals that, while absolutely not insisting on the parity with France after a five-year period, the Reich demands that all discrimination be abolished forthwith as regards the prototypes of arms which Germany does not possess to-day.—Havas.

NEW GERMANY.

RESULTS OF A DISCUSSION

An exchange of ideas has taken place in the columns of the Cologne Gazette between the French author, Romain Rolland, the French politician, Baron Fabre-Luce, and the German writer, Rudolf Binding, the subject of which was the rise of a New Germany.

Romain Rolland is certainly an admirer of German civilization and Germany's intellectual achievements, as every reader of his fine novel, "Jean Christophe", will know. Notwithstanding this, however, he has made himself the spokesman of those friends of German culture whose faith has been shaken by recent events; and he has even contributed to papers carrying out anti-German propaganda abroad. If we bear in mind that he looks upon certain phenomena and certain transitional developments associated with the change of political outlook as essential elements of the New Germany, we shall be able to understand his disappointment and his grief. The same explanation applies to the disappointment felt by many others throughout the world. As regards Romain Rolland, there is one additional reason why he should feel disappointed and grieved. Events have shattered his ideal of Germany and of German culture—an ideal which he loved—so that he can no longer find his right bearings. The new face which present-day Germany seems to have has frightened him.

TRUE SPIRIT.

This new face of Germany could not have frightened him if he had always correctly understood the essence of the German character. His own ideal of Germany contained too much which the German mentality might have in common with his own mentality with its strong international and pacifist note. Post-war Germany appeared to approach this ideal of his more closely than had been the case at any time before. Perhaps he hoped that this post-war Germany embodied more than any other the true German spirit; but if he did so, disappointment was bound to follow. The real Germany was exhausted owing to the heroic efforts she had made to win the war. She was paralysed by the crushing terms of the "peace" dictated by the victors. She had become the bond slave of those whose mentality was alien to her own; and it is only now that she has thrown off the spiritual yoke inflicted upon her.

We must also bear in mind that Romain Rolland and other friends of Germany have had to listen to the calumnies spread abroad by those of her nationals who hate the new developments. People of that type are intellectually akin to those who admire post-war Germany, so that the latter have faith in what they say, whilst ignoring the voices that proclaim the genuine spirit of the nation. Another fiction in which they tend to believe is that of the alleged enslavement of Germany's mental activities—a fiction which calls to mind the fairy tales about "Prussian Militarism" with which we had become so familiar in pre-war days. Here, too, external phenomena are erroneously identified with the true German mind. People see a few uniforms in Germany, and so they conclude that the country must be dominated by the spirit of militarism. It is but natural that Germany's friends abroad are easily accessible to slanders and calumnies, because they believe that it is necessary for them to revise their former attitude towards the country. Such belief, however, is in itself a mistake. They ought to realise that the true German character has found expression through the successful outcome of the National Revolution.

"RACIST" POLITICIAN.

Baron Fabre-Luce found it easier to appreciate the New Germany and her activities. Being a "racist" politician himself, he can see that the spirit of racial unity has reasserted itself and that this spiritual awakening has brought about the unification of the country. He realises that the National Revolution has freed the German soul from the domination of an intellectual clique alien to its true genius. Although he is a Frenchman, he welcomes the change that has come over the thoughts, intentions and deeds of the German people in the direction towards nationalism; and he knows that this attitude is far from being inspired by imperialist or chauvinist motives. The New Germany is conscious of its strength and is proud of it. She will want to find an outlet for her strength; and because she is neither imperialist nor chauvinistically minded, her activities will not be directed against the interests of other nations. All she desires is to make use of her inherent strength and make it serviceable to the world, just as all great Germans have always served the interests of mankind as a whole.

DEEPLY ROOTED.

As regards Rudolf Binding, there is no need for him to "understand" the new developments. Being deeply rooted in the German soil, he feels that the object of his own longing—which is identical with the longing of the German people—has now been accomplished. For over ten years Germany was prevented from asserting herself nationally and she had no immediate hope of ever being able to do so. The dictated peace of Versailles formed the basis, to a large extent, of her constitutional and national life, and did so even more than the Constitution—which, although her own work, had to be modelled on the provisions laid down in that treaty. Foreign critics must first appreciate the agony of the German soul that cried out for liberation. If they do so, they will understand the meaning of the national awakening. Germany felt that she was in the position of a nation degraded by the bondage inflicted upon her at Versailles; and those who suffered most from this degradation felt the stigma most acutely. The nation was divided into two camps holding different opinions regarding the way out of its national and economic plight. It was gradually accustoming itself to a mental outlook not fit for a great and independent people, but only for a colonial nation. It was too tired to rise against the internal domination of an alien minority, but was content to be ruled by it to the detriment of its own national existence.

shackles of the Versailles treaty have been broken. The leader of the National Socialist movement has unified the nation and brought about its intellectual liberation. The external phenomena mistaken by many friends of Germany for her true spirit are nothing but the labour pains preceding the birth of the New Germany. The world should try to understand that the German people once again feels itself a nation. No one need fear that a chapter in the development of the German character has come to a sudden and untoward end. The truth is that the New Germany will represent far more truly the real German mind than the Old. Now that she has regained her national unity, Germany will be able to create achievements worthy of those created by her great men in the past, who gave expression to the national spirit notwithstanding political obstructions and without

ALSATIAN HELPS POLICE*TRACKS MISSING MAN

Sydney, N.S.W.
Evidence of the value of Alsations for police work was given at Manly, (near Sydney) in the tracking of a missing man.

A Manly garage manager, who assistance from those in power. What reason is there why she should now be less able to achieve greatness than she was in the days of her national degradation? Binding concludes his letter by asking that the world should approach the German Revolution in a religious spirit. "The greatness of the Revolution," he writes, "lies in the fact that a nation that had lost faith in itself has now reconquered this faith; and such a victory makes it beautiful."—Contributed.

had driven away in his lorry, upon a rabbit-shooting expedition to South Creek, Dee Why, had not returned home at midnight.

His relatives notified Manly police, who found an abandoned lorry, but no sign of the missing man.

Although it was still dark, Constable Denholm and the police Alsation "Tess," were taken to the spot where the lorry had been found.

"Tess" was given a sniff at a coat belonging to the missing man. She promptly set out over the rough country at a pace that extended the agility and endurance of her constable-guardian, who held the dog on leash.

At the end of a four-mile run, "Tess" abruptly stopped on the top of a 90 foot cliff showing signs of excitement.

Torches revealed the missing man asleep at the foot of the cliff. He was unhurt, and explained that, having got lost he had sheltered, awaiting daylight.—Router.

BAILEY, MALCOLM, RICHARDS AND MAIN (SKIP)

New national doubles champions, George M. Lott (left) of Chicago and Lester Streeton of Los Angeles, are shown at Brookline, Mass., after defeating Frank Shields and Frankie Parker for the title. In a gruelling, three-hour bout that required 66 games for a decision, Lott now has won the title with three different partners, a feat equaled only by Big Bill Tilden.

Carnera Booked To Fight Jack Sharkey

CLASH OF THE HEAVIES IN TITLE BOUT AT MIAMI NEXT FEBRUARY; ITALIAN GIANT MEETING MCCORKINDALE

LONDON. — Although McCormick's fight with Carnera in Rome on October 22 will apparently not involve the world title, by the "deceit" of the Madison Square Garden authorities, in the absence of any hitch, it is stated that the Italian will defend his crown in a return bout with Jack Sharkey, the former champion in February next year.

This announcement was made by Sharkey's manager Mr. Johnny Buckley, who also quotes Jimmy Johnston, the match-maker at Madison Square Garden (under whose auspices the bout will be held), as having received the assurances of Bill Duffy, Carnera's manager, that he is in agreement with such a match.

Articles have not yet been signed, but, according to Buckley, the match will be the "Battle of the Palms," and will take place on February 7 next year at Miami, Florida.

Buckley stated that Jimmy Johnston has abandoned his original plans for a title fight between Carnera and Max Baer, Schmeling's conqueror, who is being managed by Jack Dempsey.

Another forthcoming, heavy-weight match is a return bout between Schmeling and Max Baer, the fair-haired Californian, who will meet at the Olympic Stadium, Los Angeles, on February 14, 1934.

BANKRUPTCY ACTION.

Incidentally Carnera's size though it stands him in good stead in the ring, is proving a nuisance in the bankruptcy proceedings which have been started against him in New York.

Mr. J. Caliendo, a New York tailor, made a suit for Primo.

He has not been paid, so he had a few words to say in court. "See that suit he's wearing," he said, pointing at the boxer, "he owes me $28 for that. It took five and a quarter yards of good English woolen to make that suit."

The average man's suit takes three and three-eighths yards. — Renter's Sports Service.

World Title Fight For London

CHOCOLATE AT THE ALBERT HALL

Kid Chocolate, the coloured champion from Cuba, who since he arrived in Europe has been insisting on £4,000 as his price for defending the world feather-weight title against Seaman Watson, has at last agreed to a fight.

The agreement is that the Cuban shall stake his championship at the Albert Hall, London, on the night of October 30, but it is questionable whether he has obtained the £4,000 for which he has asked.

Jeff Dickson arranged a number of smaller matches for the coloured man on the Continent, and was doubtless taken into consideration.

Seaman Watson, who had been fighting hard for this match, was delighted at the news.

Chocolate's appearance in England should prove one of the biggest events of the winter.

In spite of the ludicrous ring name he has adopted, the Cuban is a real artist with the gloves—a great left-hand performer, a crafty body puncher, a rare general in defence, and a knock-out specialist all rolled into one.

BOXER'S COLLAPSE AFTER FIGHT

Fell Unconscious In Corridor

Dave Benjamin, a Welsh boxer who lives at Hammersmith, W., was taken to Bethnal Green Hospital in an unconscious condition soon after the conclusion of a match with Dixie Dean, of Hoxton, who won in the fourth round.

The contest took place at the Drill Hall, Victoria-square, Bethnal Green, and was advertised for six rounds.

Benjamin went down several times during the first three rounds and was counted out in the fourth round.

He walked to his dressing room, dressed, and was walking to the street door when he collapsed in the corridor.

Benjamin was taken to hospital in an unconscious condition and soon after his arrival a message was sent to his wife.

It was feared that he had suffered an injury to his spine.

SHANGHAI'S INTERPORT BOWLS TEAM

TUESDAY'S WINNING RINK TO OPPOSE HONGKONG TO-DAY

MANAGER TOMMY MAIN MAKES A WISE DECISION

(By "Veritas").

Shanghai's rink which won the second lawn bowls Interport on Tuesday last is to do duty at the Police Green this afternoon in the deciding match against Hongkong.

Mr. T. G. Main, manager of the Shanghai team announced this morning, so that U. M. Omar and his colleagues will be opposed by the following.

No. 1 W. A. Bailey
No. 2 A. A. Malcolm
No. 3 C. Richards
Skip T. G. Main.

The Hongkong rink, which is regarded as the strongest of the three competing in the present series will be:

No. 1 R. Hall (K.B.G.C.)
No. 2 B. W. Bradbury (C.C.C.)
No. 3 J. C. Brown (K.D.R.C.)
Skip U. M. Omar (C.C.C.)

IDEAL CONDITIONS.

Conditions promise to be ideal on this afternoon, a good green which promises to remain fast.

The visitors will have the satisfaction of knowing that not only will the weather be favourable, but that they are playing on one of the best greens in the Colony; a true draw on either hand and no bumps.

The Hongkong players will take the green firm favourites and justifiably confident. Shanghai's record has been exceedingly poor, and judged by the club matches, the visitors would appear to have small chances of winning.

If they do pull off the unexpected they will return to Shanghai with the peculiar achievement of having won the Interport yet of losing seven out of the eleven other games. Nevertheless, in face of this rather unimpressive record, it is well to bear in mind that the rink which is playing to-day, has, in its particular line-up, only made one appearance, and that last Tuesday when the second Interport was won.

Yesterday the same players were beaten by Kowloon Dock, but Main was then playing No. 2 with Malcolm as skip.

MAIN AND RICHARDS.

Much will depend on Main and Richards. In J.C. Brown and U. M. Omar are opposed to two of the best No. 3's and skips in the Colony. The four should provide some fascinating duels.

If Bradbury is on anything like form I think he will prove too good for Malcolm, who has not found his old touch during the present series. R. Hall and Bailey may be more evenly matched, with Hall possibly a little more accurate in the draw.

The Shanghai players have more than once during the past fortnight given the impression that to be at their best they must have the occasion which inspires.

This afternoon should provide them with that inspiration. Past achievements have shown that they are equal to rising to very high standards of bowling. Their chief danger is individualistic brilliance without team work.

In their own league bowls in Shanghai all the players are skips and it is not easy to adapt themselves to the peculiar requirements of the other positions at short notice.

But what will do more to bringing them nearer success this afternoon is a reproduction of the form shown last Tuesday. If the rink plays as well to-day, Omar and his men will have to produce their very best form to win.

PERFECT CONFIDENCE.

Hongkong can regard the outlook with perfect confidence. A first-class rink is being put on to the green. All are experienced Interport bowlers with Omar a brilliant leader.

The match is scheduled for 2.30 p.m. sharp, and there is certain to be a big crowd at the Police Recreation Club. His Excellency the Governor has promised to attend.

At 8 o'clock to-night, the Inter-Port dinner will be held at Lane, and so that the visitors can be unduly rushed, the sail will not be hoisted until 1 a.m. leave for Shanghai until 1 a.m. on Sunday.

DISHEARTENING

Eve of Interport Defeat

Shanghai had a disheartening experience on the eve of the final Interport when they were yesterday beaten by Kowloon Docks by 25 shots to 16.

The visitors turned out the same players who will be appearing to-day, but Malcolm skipped and Main went in at No. 2.

Shanghai never recovered from a disastrous start, being eight points behind at the eighth head, five at the 12th and eleven at the 14th. They won six out of the remaining seven heads, but a terrible 19th, when they conceded five, stopped all chances of recovery.

The bowling was mediocre with individual performances a feature. Shanghai's failure to consolidate well won positions was a big factor in their defeat.

Kowloon Dock were infinitely the superior rink, Ramsay in particular displaying great form.

The full scores were:

ANOTHER COCHET SENSATION

TOUR CANCELLED

No Attraction Without Him

Without Henri Cochet, the visit to South Africa of a French lawn tennis team would be no attraction at all.

This statement was made by Mr. Rex Tucker, president of the South African Lawn Tennis Union, in declaring that the proposed French tour would be cancelled following the announcement Cochet would not be in the team as he had turned professional.

"We stipulated in making arrangements for the tour that Cochet must be in the team," Mr. Tucker added.

OPEN TOURNEYS

Lacoste Backs Up Cochet's Demand

Great interest has been aroused in the possibilities of arranging lawn tennis tournaments in which both amateurs and professionals could take part.

Rene Lacoste, captain of the French Davis Cup team, said to-day:

"Cochet's change-over ought certainly to carry a step farther the question of inaugurating open tournaments. I am in favour of such a change. I am sure that sooner or later we shall see it realised."

The hope is expressed that somebody will found a new cup competition, which would be a centre-point for international professional matches.

PURGING FRENCH RUGBY

A REAL EFFORT BEING MADE

BRITISH EMBARGO MAY BE LIFTED

A secret commission is to go to France to get first-hand information as to the present condition of French Rugby.

This announcement has re-awakened in home Rugby circles keen speculation as to whether the result of the visit will mean the ultimate lifting of the embargo upon matches with France and French clubs.

Since they were "excommunicated" the French authorities have made determined efforts to make their game conform to British ideas as to how Rugby should be played. Vices did exist. Whether they have been stamped out has yet to be decided. That is the job of the commission.

Rugby clubs in England would like to welcome France back to the fold. Wales also are anxious to include France in International fixtures, but Scotland and Ireland are still opposed to the lifting of the ban.

QUESTION OF FINANCE.

Apart from the pleasure derived from clubs making tours in France, or French clubs visiting Britain, a big question of finance is involved.

Without a home match with France, the Rugby Union, for instance, will this season suffer a drop in income of about £12,000, because one international only—with Scotland—will be played at Twickenham, and Wales, as is well known, could do with the extra thousands of pounds that accrue from games with France.

I do not advance this as a reason for ending the split. Money considerations, however big the sum involved, would never justify that as long as French clubs are suspected of flirting with professionalism or are toying with the proposal to form a Central International Board.

The French Rugby Union are in a difficult position. The Rugby League are anxious to establish their code in France, and nations like Czechoslovakia, Italy, Rumania, and Germany, where the Rugby Union game is still in its infancy, are pressing for the formation of a federation that will include France.

The next few months will be critical as regards the future of Rugby on the Continent. Because France has made and is making a genuine effort to purge her game of its abuses, I hope the outcome of events will be the early return to friendly relations.

LADIES' HOCKEY

Intra-Club Match to Be Played To-day

ORGAN RECITAL

FUNDS NEEDED FOR REPAIRS TO INSTRUMENT

A successful recital was given by Mr. Frederick Mason, A.R.C.O., L.T.C.L., organist, at St. John's Cathedral last evening in aid of the organ fund.

The organist had the assistance of the Cathedral choir and Mr.
W. H. Bailey, well-known local singer. There was a satisfactory attendance.

The programme included excerpts from the compositions of famous composers, Bach, Handel and Mendelssohn being amongst those represented. Mr. Mason gave a brilliant performance, and in the aria Mr. Bailey was heard to great effect.

It was announced that the position in regard to the organ fund had become somewhat pressing, particularly during the last two months when during repairs to the roof, further damage was done by the dust falling into the organ pipes. The congregation were asked to contribute as much as they could at the collection taken at this recital, and at the others of the series. The gratitude of the Cathedral authorities was tendered to Mr.
Mason, Mr. Bailey and the Cathedral choir for their labours.

LADY DOCTOR'S DEATH

MRS. McELNEY PASSES AWAY AT LIVERPOOL

Much sympathy will be felt for Dr. J. H. McElney, of the firm of Drs. Macgown Anderson, Durran, McElney and Evans, in the death of his wife, Dr. Ariel McElney, at Home. The sad news was received by Dr. McElney by cable, his wife having passed away on Thursday at Liverpool, after a brief illness. She proceeded to England from Hongkong
some time ago.

Mrs. Ariel Ramsford Stewart
Deacon McElney was well-known in Hongkong, and the news of her death will come as a shock to a large circle of friends. She was a medical practitioner having qualified as M. B. and Ch. B. of Liverpool University, and D.T.M.
Mrs. McElney joined the Hongkong Government Medical Service in November last year, being appointed Assistant Visiting Medical Officer to the Chinese hospitals and dispensaries. Her work brought her into contact with many who learned to appreciate her care and attention.

FANG'S FINISH

REBEL GENERAL LEFT ALONE AT SHUNYI

Peking, Oct. 13.
The early eclipse of General Fang Chen-yu is predicted by an official communiqué which states that General Fang has handed over command of his troops to General Chi Hung-chang, and is at present in a small village two miles northeast of Shunyi with a handful of bodyguards.

It is authoritatively learned that Yin Tung and Li Che-hi, members of the Luan-tung Retrocession Commission, will shortly leave for Changchun and Tokyo respectively for an exchange of views with Japanese military officers and diplomats concerning the Sino-Japanese situation.

This move is interpreted in Chinese quarters as an attempt to secure a general settlement of the outstanding Sino-Japanese difficulties, for the purpose of breaking the present impasse, particularly as it affects Luan-tung.—Reuter.

OIL DISPUTE ENDS.

ANGLO-PERSIAN AFFAIR IS TERMINATED

Geneva, Oct. 13.
The League Council formally approved the Anglo-Persian oil dispute settlement to-day thus finally and officially terminating the difficulties between these Governments.

It will be remembered that the Persian Government attempted to break the agreement reached with the British operating company, whose wells represent a tremendous investment in Persian territory. The dispute was taken before the League and settled amicably.—Reuter.

BRITISH OPINION.

SERIOUS VIEW TAKEN IN RUSSO-JAPAN CLASH

London, Oct. 13.

Although newspapers do not editorialise on the subject, cables
in connexion with the C.E.R. dispute are given prominence in all.

Those connected with the Far East are gravely impressed. They point to the Russian accusations that Japan deliberately encouraged bandit outrages, and so on, along the C.E.R. with a view to ruining the railway. Such butterflies have noticeably increased since the opening of sale negotiations on June 26, they say.

But Russia, it is added, has never returned the rolling stock which Japan alleges she stole in March.

While it is scarcely expected that Japan will break off diplomatic relations, it is thought very likely that the quarrel will hasten the formation of a purely naval and military cabinet in Tokyo.

Recent efforts by Japan to complicate China are attributed to a desire to have her hands free in view of the Russian quarrel.
Russian naval and military activity at Vladivostok also has been circumstantially reported recently.—
Reuter.

STORMS IN DAIL.

BILLS AMENDING IRISH CONSTITUTION

Dublin, Oct. 13.
Without a division and with very little debate, the Dail has passed through the final stages the three Bills amending the Constitution.

The Bills will now go before the Senate, which may hold them up for eighteen months if the members think fit.

Mr. De Valera moved an ad-

RUBBER'S FUTURE.

EXPECT GREAT GAIN IN PRESENT STOCK

Amsterdam, Oct. 13.
Authoritative sources expect that rubber stocks at the end of 1933 will be 50,000 tons higher than they were at the end of 1932. A decline in the price of the commodity is consequently anticipated.

To offset such a decline several Dutch growers have tried to conclude contracts until the end of 1934. These sales caused some surprise, particularly among those who have confidence in the outcome of production restriction negotiations.—Reuter.

GROWERS' REACTION.

Indies Native Planters Favour Restriction.

Medan, Oct. 13.
The native rubber planters at Deli and Serang have declared themselves in favour of restriction of rubber production, but demand
equal rights with European growers.

The Dutch and British growers are attempting to reach an accord in respect of restriction, and meetings have been held in London and the Hague.—Reuter.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

There's a dark brown secret in Madge Evans' life!

She once advertised real beer back in the days when there wasn't any Eighteenth Amendment and it was perfectly legal to raise a thirst.

Mias Evans confessed the secret to Al Johnson during rehearsals of the United Artists picture, "Hallelujah, I'm a Tramp", in which she plays the leading feminine role opposite the singing star. The picture comes to the King's Theatre to-morrow.

When Madge was a golden-haired child actress, she frequently posed for advertisements of internationally known products.

She admits she also posed for the calendar of the world's largest brewery, Anita Stewart, then sixteen, posed as Madge's mother.

"The Penguin Pool Murder"

It took all but executive orders from President Hoover, Governor
Roosevelt and Tammany Hall before RKO-Radio was permitted to shoot scenes of the historic New Aquarium, formerly Castle Garden, for technical use in filming Stuart Palmer's popular mystery story, "The Penguin Pool Murder," coming to the Central Theatre to-morrow.

The superintendent of the famous tourist mecca in Battery Park at first refused point-blank to permit cameramen entrance with their equipment for one reason only—a night-important reason to him: murder never had been nor could be done in the Aquarium. It is a calm, peaceful place, the safest in the world, and he wouldn't let the world have visitors discouraged by any morbid fears.

Finally, RKO's New York technical research department secured permission to shoot the pictures by applying to the New York Board of Aldermen —and by convincing the Aquarium superintendent that the plot of the "Penguin Pool Murder" is pure fiction and would be treated as such.

The Aquarium scenes were essential to the studio-set-building department in Hollywood, which has duplicated in detail every interior feature of the New York landmark.

Edna May Oliver, James Gleason, Robert Armstrong, Donald Cook and Mae Clark enact the combination of humorous comedy and intriguing mystery. George Archainbaud directed.

"Pick Up"

"Ideal starring team" is what the theatrical and screen world said when it was announced that Sylvia Sydney,
wistful, lark-eyed star of "City Streets," "Ladies of the Big House,"
"An American Tragedy" and "Madame Butterfly," and George Raft, smooth, slightly sinister star of "Night After Night," "Undercover Man," and "If I had a Million," were to play together in a picture.

The film is "Pick Up," an adaptation of Vina Delmar's Red Book story, a B. P. Schulberg production, which comes to the Queen's Theatre tomorrow.

Both players hail from New York City; both share many characteristics of background and temperament in common; both emigrated to Hollywood from the New York stage. Miss Sydney's specialty in roles—that of the deeply-in-love woman ready to sacrifice everything for her man—is regarded as ideally suited opposite Raft's specialty—the reticent male with a deadly effect on women in general and one woman in particular.

"Pick Up" centres around the two,
who meet under strange circumstances. Miss Sydney, freed from prison
after being "framed" by her husband, who still remains behind the bars,
finds herself destitute in the city,
Cold and soaking wet on a rainy night, she takes refuge in a cab.

Raft, the driver, is soon as deeply in love with her as she is with him.
Their purchase of a garage in the suburbs sets them well on the road to prosperity. But when Raft begins paying attention to a wealthy socialite who is flattered by his charm, Sydney rushes to a lawyer; finds she can easily secure an annulment of her marriage to her convict-husband.
But the very day the papers come through, her husband appears on the scene, fresh from a jail break in which he has killed a guard, and feverish in his determination to get revenge not only on Sylvia, but on Raft.

The picture comes to a breathless climax in Sylvia's attempt to save the life of the man she loves.

MUZZLING ORDER
AND RABIES.OFFICIAL STATEMENTS ON QUESTION

It was announced at a meeting of the Sanitary Board held yesterday that the last case of rabies on the Island was reported as far back as February 21, 1927. This was in response to questions by Mr. M. K. Lo.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. T. Megarry, the President, and others present were the Hon. Mr. A. G. W. Tickle, Vice-President, Dr. G. W. Pope, M.O.H., Mr. Wong Kwong-tin, Mr. M. K. Lo, Mr. F. C. Hall, Dr. Li Shu-fan, Mr. A. S. MacKichan, Mr. C. J. Roe, secretary, and Mr. Ng Mui-kai, assistant secretary.

Mr. M. K. Lo also asked a question regarding the reported condemnation of flour stored in the Colony.

The President replied that a small seizure of unwholesome flour had recently been made in a bakehouse and destroyed, and that subsequently very large quantities in local godowns were found to be weevil infested, but that the owners had been agreeable to remove the worst affected part and to instruct their dealers that none of the stock in this condition should go on the local market.

The remainder of business was of a routine nature.

On the question of rabies, Mr. Lo asked:

Will the Head of the Sanitary Department consult the proper Authorities and inform the Board what is the date of the last case of rabies on the Island?

Mr. Megarry replied it was the 21st of February, 1927.

The Muzzling Order.

Mr. Lo.—If the date mentioned in the preceding question is some considerable time ago, whether or not the reason for the continued operation of the "muzzling order," so far as concerns the Island, is the risk of suspected or infected rabid dogs being brought to the Island from any place outside the Island?

Mr. Megarry.—The immediate reasons for the muzzling order on the Island are to prevent the spread of rabies, if a case does occur, and to make the stray or uncontrolled dog easily recognisable. If it were possible to ensure absolutely that none but dogs free from infection and above suspicion entered the Island, the muzzling order would be unnecessary.

Quarantine or Vaccination?

Mr. Lo.—If the answer to the last question is in the affirmative, will it not in fact be safe to rescind the muzzling order so far as concerns the Island, by adopting effective measures to prevent suspected or infected rabid dogs from being brought to the Island?—e.g., by a regulation that no dogs shall be landed on the Island without a permit from the Colonial Veterinary Surgeon, who may grant some on such terms and conditions as he may deem fit, including the alternative conditions that:

(1) Either such dog shall be kept in quarantine at the expense of the owner for such period as may be necessary, or,

(2) The owner shall furnish satisfactory evidence that such dog has been vaccinated against Rabies.

Mr. Megarry.—The Colonial Veterinary Surgeon, having careful regard to all the circumstances, does not consider that there are any measures which might be taken to make it safe to rescind the muzzling order so far as it concerns the Island. The method of issuing landing permits subject to quarantine would be impracticable for the reasons that the facilities for quarantine would be quite inadequate; accommodation for a minimum of 200 dogs, and staff to look after them, would be necessary; and, moreover, the quarantine period would have to be six months. A certificate of vaccination against rabies as a preliminary to entry would also be unsatisfactory, inasmuch as it would be extremely difficult to verify in all cases that the certificate presented related to the dog presented, and in any case it would be impossible to make quite certain that dogs without such certificates were not smuggled in at some part of the Island.

Unwholesome Flour.

Regarding the question of unwholesome flour, Mr. Lo asked:

Will the Head of the Sanitary Department make a statement to this Board regarding the reported condemnation of flour stored in the Colony?

Mr. Megarry.—A small seizure of unwholesome flour was recently made in a bakehouse in the Colony and the flour destroyed under section 83 of the Public Health and Buildings Ordinance. Subsequently it was discovered that very large

BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

If you are on the alert, an opponent's bid will very often be the means of your getting a perfect reading on the hand. I believe one of the best examples of this kind is given in the following hand, which came up in a recent duplicate game.

The Bidding

South, the dealer, opened the bidding with one heart and West overcalled with one spade. North bid two clubs. As East and West were not vulnerable, East bid two diamonds.

South made a jump bid of three hearts. Personally I believe the better bid is four hearts, inviting the slam at once. West passed and North went to four clubs.

South bid five no trump, definitely showing stoppers in both spades and diamonds. North, having the king of both suits, knew that his partner must be marked with the ace; and, since he himself held the ace of clubs, he went to seven no trump.

The Play.

The opening lead by West was the queen of spades, and now the play of the entire hand depends upon whether or not the declarer can locate the queen of clubs.

Of course, as the cards are distributed now, you will see that all the declarer has to do is to play the ace and king of clubs and the clubs will drop. But supposing you were playing the hand, how would you go about getting a sure reading on the club situation—one that would show you either how to take the finesse or whether the clubs would drop? It should be done in the following manner.

Remember that West has bid spades. He has done this in the face of the fact that you hold the four aces and four kings, so he certainly must have at least five spades—and more likely he holds six.

The declarer should first take three rounds of hearts to see if the heart suit will break. However, on the third heart lead East shows out, dropping a diamond. Declarer should discard a diamond and a spade from dummy.

We now know that West holds one heart. Declarer should then cash his ace and king of diamonds. West shows out of diamonds, discarding a spade.

The next step is to get a count on the spade suit, so the declarer should play a small spade and win with the king in dummy. When East's ten drops, this now marks him out of spades, as West's opening lead of the queen showed the jack.

The declarer now knows that West holds three spades, the jack of hearts, and two clubs, and all he has to do is to drop the clubs.

quantities of flour in local godowns held almost entirely for re-export were more or less weevil-infested and in an unwholesome condition. The owners are agreeable to remove the worst affected part of the flour, a comparatively small quantity, out of the Colony at once, to instruct all their dealers that none of the stocks in this condition is to go on the local market, and to endeavour within a few months to have all such flour removed from the Colony. There is an adequate supply of wholesome flour in the Colony for local use and any of this in these godowns will be kept quite separate from infected flour. This rendered any immediate drastic action against the stocks in the godowns unnecessary.

In addition, instructions have been issued to District Inspectors to warn flour retailers and bakers of the possible consequences to the possession of such weevil-infested flour; this should be sufficient precaution to safeguard the local public. Action is also being taken to investigate whether there are any measures which might be taken by flour importers to prevent their stocks becoming infected to this extent in future.

PATROL VESSEL BLOWN UP

RUM-RUNNERS IN FINLAND

BRITAIN AGREES TO HELP

London, Oct. 13. An Anglo-Finnish Liquor Smuggling Convention which follows the general lines of the similar convention concluded in 1923 with the United States was signed this afternoon at the Foreign Office.

The import of alcoholic liquors into Finland is subject to Government control and monopoly and during the past seven or eight years smuggling has been taking place on an extensive scale.

Finland concluded with her Baltic neighbours a Liquor Smuggling Convention in 1925 and a number of other countries have assented to seizure outside the territorial waters of liquor-smuggling ship flying their flags.

The League of Nations Council have recommended States to assist Finland in her difficulty over smuggling.

There is abundant evidence that the immunity from seizure outside territorial waters enjoyed by vessels flying the British flag is encouraging.

DEATH.

GUTIERREZ.—At St. Paul's Hospital, Hongkong, on 14th October, 1933, Mrs. Rosa da Lima Gutierrez, aged 56. Funeral will pass the Monument at 5 p.m. today. (Shanghai papers please copy).

PATRONAL FEAST

ST. MARGARET'S CHURCH

At St. Margaret's Church, Happy Valley, to-morrow will take place the Patronal Feast of St. Margaret, the Apostle of the Sacred Heart.

There will be Masses at 6.30—7.30—and a solemn Pontifical Mass at 9 a.m. when His Lordship Bishop Valtorta will officiate.

In the afternoon, the service will begin at 5 p.m. with the recitation of the Rosary.

The procession of the Blessed Sacrament, will be accompanied by the band of St. Louis Industrial School.

The Rev. Fr. Bourke will deliver the panegyric of the feast.

The service will be concluded by the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

GRAVE INDIGNATION.
According to the Finnish authorities, fifteen of them are at present actively engaged.

Finnish opinion has become much exercised at the continuance of this traffic by international adventurers under the protection of British flag and the recent blowing up of one of the Finnish Coast Guard patrol-boats has given rise to grave indignation.

Under the new Convention, the Finnish Government vessels will be entitled to stop and, if necessary, arrest vessels flying the British flag which are suspected of smuggling liquor into Finland.—British Wire-

Moscow's First Underground

TO BE READY BY NEXT YEAR

Moscow's first Underground will be ready for traffic by November 7, 1934.

The date of the celebration of the Seventeenth Anniversary of the October revolution, it is announced here. The building of the railway has been making good progress lately. When completed the Underground will cross the city in several directions and will have a total length of about sixty miles.

Twenty-three shafts have so far been sunk and work will begin this month (September) on the sinking of twenty-two more. At present 25,000 people are engaged in the construction work but it is expected that by March next year that number will be increased to 65,000, of which 35,000 will be engaged in tunnel-work.

It is hoped that the first tests of the underground will be carried out in October next year. Reuter.
